move to Old Virginia
for pleasant living - - - -

MANY PEOPLE have found contentment and serenity in the OLD Virginia of which Farmville and Appomattox are the center, located between the mountains and tidewater, the rolling Piedmont Virginia offers many advantages for the homeseeker. Excellent highways lead to the larger cities, where rapid transportation waits one along north to Washington, New York and Boston, or south to Florida, Miami Beach and Key West. Public lakes, hunting preserves, and recreation areas available locally.

Famous For Fashions In Farmville

For more than 100 years, Baldwin's stores have served the people of Southside Virginia. When your Grandmother, or Great-Grandmother bought hoop skirts and high button shoes, it was probably at BALDWIN'S in Curdsville. Or when your Grandfather or Great-Grandfather bought a present for his 'Bride-To-Be' it was from BALDWIN'S in Farmville before the turn of the century.

It was at Curdsville, in Buckingham County, in the days before the Civil War that Albert Baldwin established the first BALDWIN'S and from that modest beginning over 100 years ago, Baldwin's has grown to the present chain of eight stores, located in Farmville, Lynchburg, Marion, Durham, N. C., Rock Mount, N. C., Williamston, N. C., Roanoke Rapids, N. C. and Smithfield, N. C.

Serving Virginia And North Carolina

Like father, like son, grandson and great-grandsons, Robert Archer Baldwin succeeded his father in the Curdsville merchantile business and in 1890 moved to Farmville to establish the present department store. As the business grew in the thriving town of Farmville, R. A. Baldwin decided to expand and opened stores in Richmond, Lynchburg and Durham, N. C. putting one of his sons in charge of each of the stores. In 1911, R. A. Baldwin was succeeded by his son Frank G. Baldwin, who has now turned the active management over to his sons, with T. Kyle Baldwin supervising the stores in Farmville and Lynchburg, Robert Archer Baldwin in Marion, and Frank G. Baldwin in North Carolina.

For Fashions NOW as 100 years ago, it is still BALDWIN'S setting the pace in Virginia and through North Carolina.
